

Enjoy the region of Caldas and immerse yourself in its waters. The sea, peaceful estuaries, rivers and healing waters gushing from springs shape the landscape and define the history of the region. Along their course, the rivers Ulla and Umia and their tributaries adorn the landscape with lagoons, waterfalls and leafy forests, which are surrounded by legends and stories.

Visit the towns of Valga, Catoira, Caldas de Reis, Cuntis, Moraña, Pontecesures and Portas, and be seduced by the water. The region of Caldas comprises the estuary of the Ulla River to the north and the middle and upper courses of the Umia River to the south. This area has abundant surface water - rivers - and plenty of underground water with therapeutic properties. The origin of the region and of the first settlements in Caldas is linked precisely to the hot springs, already used by the Romans, and which were later enjoyed in luxurious spas in the 19th century.

The rivers shape landscapes of stunning beauty and along their course pass through wild forests, rocks and mosses, lagoons and pools of green water and high cascades, to end in estuaries and wetlands, a refuge for migratory birds. Moreover, these rivers have also been part of the history of this land. This is evidenced by the large number of bridges, many of them built by the Romans, which facilitated the communication between the people of both banks, or by the fortress Torres de Oeste, which served to control the traffic along the Ulla River. It is worth a visit to any of the museums or interpretation centres aimed at promoting this natural and cultural heritage. One of them is the Museo da Historia de Valga, which brings us closer to the history of the town and shows us the important natural heritage of the estuary of the Ulla River.

15 Museo da Historia de Valga –Bella Otero

It provides information about the natural heritage of the region and takes visitors on a journey through the history of Valga, from the first settlers to contemporary times. The honorary citizens of the town include La Bella Otero and the historian Xesús Ferro Couselo. It has an adjoining building that is a replica of a traditional house.

OTHER POINTS OF INTEREST

1 Sugar factory in Portas

A former sugar factory, which currently houses a public nursery school for 0-3 year olds, an open-air auditorium and an exhibition room displaying collections of doll houses, painting and sculpture. The chimney of the old factory now serves as a viewpoint.

2 The Bermaña Bridge

The Bermaña Bridge is a granite stonework bridge built in the Roman period. It consists of three semi-circular arches and triangular starlings. It was restored and renovated on several occasions in the 17th century. The pilgrims following the Portuguese Way to Santiago de Compostela pass through this bridge.

7 Castro of Castrolandín and Interpretation Centre

It is a fortified hillfort settlement from the Iron Age. Occupied from the 4th century BC to the 1st century AD, it is placed on a granite spur at the bottom of the valley of the Gallo River. The castro has an oval shape and consists of a wall, a rampart, and a central crown. The archaeological site has information panels that show the different uses of the construction, the defensive system or the stunning entry to the settlement with a staircase and towers. There is also an interpretation centre in downtown Cuntis, aimed at promoting the castro culture and displaying some pieces found in the archaeological site, such as the grain mills, pottery... It also shows elements of the everyday life of the old settlers like the lareira (the hearth) or a loom as well as a pottery workshop, aimed at reproducing the old pieces documented in Castrolandín.

8 Spas in Cuntis

The spa tradition in Cuntis dates back to the Roman times and has continued up to the present day. It is one of the most important spa destinations in Galicia. There, it is worth staying at the Hotel de la Virgen, with large gardens and directly connected to the spa, or at the Hotel Castro do Balneario, a refurbished traditional manor house that also offers thermal treatments.

12 Fortress Torres de Oeste

The fortress Torres de Oeste dates from the pre-Roman period, during the castro era, 2nd and 1st centuries BC. In the Middle Ages, this spot was one of the most important forts in Galicia, as it controlled the traffic in the Ulla River. Today, the only remains left of the building are two towers and the chapel.

13 Romería Vikinga (Catoira)

It is a festival of International Tourist Interest that commemorates the Norman raids that took place in the 12th century in Galicia. The most eye-catching attraction is the reenactment of the Viking's landing and the attack on the Torres de Oeste.

CULINARY MOMENTS

5 Festa do Carneiro ao Espeto (Moraña)

Festival of Tourist Interest in Galicia that is held at the oak grove of Santa Lucía, in which lambs are roasted slowly over oak wood coals on a spit. Meat is served accompanied by other products such as empanada (savory pie filled with seasonal products), bread or a good local wine.

Umia River

Its origin is in the parish of Aciveiro (Forcarei). This river is filled with stories of muleteers that followed the riverpaths. In the town of Moraña it is a fast-flowing river, but it flows slowly as it passes through Ribadumia, a town with plenty of Albariño vineyards. Finally, it flows into the coastal inlet Ría de Arousa, creating the protected space of the Bodeira Lagoon and the wetlands of O Vao and Punta Carreirón.
